FIAT Professional selects TomTom for its commercial vehicles

~TomTom to deliver integrated navigation solution for new Ducato range~

Amsterdam, 16 May 2014 – TomTom (TOM2) has today announced an extension of its long standing partnership with Fiat. The new Fiat Ducato, the line of bestselling Fiat Professional commercial vehicles, will be equipped with TomTom's fully integrated and state-of-the-art navigation solution.

TomTom will deliver the advanced navigation software integrated in the Uconnect™⁹ Radio Nav system, manufactured by Continental and featuring TomTom's IQ routes and digital maps.

By incorporating TomTom's state-of-the-art navigation solution to the Ducato line, Fiat delivers more technology, more efficiency and more value to their customers. Drivers will now have easy access to Fiat Professional POIs including dealers and service points across Europe.

"We are pleased to announce an extension to our partnership with Fiat. When businesses select a new car for their professional drivers, navigation is one of the most frequently requested features. It not only helps them make smarter decisions when driving, but also saves time and increases fuel efficiency," said Jan Maarten de Vries, VP Automotive at TomTom.
